MORENO! HAS MYSTERY OVER MAN'S DEATH; WAS IT MURDER OR SUICIDE?

Moreno, Ariz., March 7.—Lying beside his wounded horse, with a bullet hole through his head, the body of Barney Corrallo, owner of a saloon and meat market in this place, was discovered within a few hundred feet of the Arizona Central hotel.

At first it was believed that a murder had been committed with robbery as the motive, as the dead man usually carried considerable money with him. A posse was formed and a thorough search of the surrounding country was made, but no evidence was discovered that would throw any light upon the mystery.

A later search of the body revealed the fact that quite a large sum of money was untouched. This search also brought to light a revolver with four empty cartridges. This evidence seemed to indicate suicide, and that theory seemed the more reasonable as Corrallo was known to be quite heavily involved financially.

But if suicide, why did the deceased first shoot his horse, is the question that is troubling the officers. Many people are inclined to believe that some person with a knowledge of the fact that Corrallo habitually carried money with him, attempted to rob him, and that Corrallo showed fight and was killed while defending himself and the robbers, fearing that the exchange of shots was heard and would cause an alarm, hurried away without stopping to rob the body.

TO CUT UP BIG SECTION IN PECOS VALLEY FOR SMALL FARMERS

Pecos, Tex., March 7.—Senator F. C. Weiser, of Seguin, and C. F. Woods have purchased four sections of land in the Berlin flats, 10 miles south from Pecos, and will divide it into small tracts for colonization purposes.

In conversation with Mr. Woods he stated that it was expected to have 10 or 15 families on this property within the next few months, doing actual farming.

There is more activity along the line of actual development, and less of speculation than ever before in the history of the Pecos valley.

LETTERS TO BE SENT BY WIRE

New Cheap Night Service Inaugurated by Telegraph Company.

Announcement is made by the Western Union Telegraph company that it will shortly be prepared to handle long night messages at the rates customarily charged for ten word day messages. It appears that the Western Union has a large unemployed mileage of wire at night which is not earning anything. These wires must be maintained in any event to take care of the regular day business, and it is apparently the idea of the new interests in the Telegraph company to let the public have the benefit of them.

The announcement states that "a special night letter service will be established. The charge for this service will be the standard day rate for ten words, for the transmission of 50 words or less, and one-fifth of such standard day rates will be charged for each 10 words or less."

To be taken at those rates "night letters" must be written in plain English language. Code words or communications written in foreign languages will not be accepted. The messages will be taken at any hour up to midnight and transmitted at the company's convenience during the night for delivery the following morning.

Under the new arrangement a "night letter" sent to Denver, Colo., containing 50 words or less will cost 50 cents, 60 words 60 cents, 65 words 70 cents. Fifty words as a "night letter" to Chicago will cost 75 cents, 60 words 90 cents, 70 words $1.05. The same rate also applies to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and other points in the same territory.

The Postal Telegraph and Cable company has made a similar arrangement for the night letter service between the offices on its lines and those directly connected with it. The new arrangement is effective today.

MAN ENDS LIFE BECAUSE HE THOUGHT RABBITS WOULD EAT HIS TREES

Hardluck Story of a Fort Sumner, N. M., Man Reads Almost Like a Bit of Fiction.

Fort Sumner, N. M., March 7.—Word has just been received here that William Linegar, of Canyon City, Colo., committed suicide by shooting. Linegar and his partner, J. T. Hoyt, were packing a car preparatory to shipping their effects to this place, where the two had bought 40 acres of irrigated land, and trips to California and Texas. Linegar had accumulated a fortune by speculation in land, and when someone told him that the rabbits would eat through the wire protectors and eat off his trees, he killed himself, in spite of the fact that he had a chance to sell out at a profit of $1000 without touching his place.

One of the worst true hard luck stories is told by a rancher here named Brown. Last year he shipped in a car of stock and had two head killed by the road. In the meantime he had nearly $1000 worth of sickness in his family. Now he has shipped in another car of stock, out of which the road succeeded in killing five head.
